I think this case should be settled. I have found it ridiculous in the first place. Had it not been for Microsoft most people would never have learned how to use a computer. They were innovative in getting a good program out there for the lay person. One that could be used by everyone. I have worked on DOS platforms, Windows and UNIX and know that Windows is the best.

I know lots of senior citizens (I am 59) have gone online because of the ease through windows.

I have never had a problem using any Internet access I wanted through Windows. In fact I do not use Microsoft's Internet access I am on CompuServe.

I find this whole legal action silly and a waste of taxpayers money and government time. We have more important things to worry about in the economy to not settle this case and get it done with.

I have been using Windows since 1988.

Yours,

Carolyn Weaver
